

SUBURBAN RABBITS

Scenario : You are cottontail rabbits that live in a residential area...suburban for humans, but urban for a rabbit! There are many advantages to this, but also some challengers. Play together in the yard to see which rabbit can cross the finish line first. Not enough outdoor space? No problem! Play in your house!

How to play?

1. Print and cut out the game cards.
2. Designate a starting line as well as a finish line. All players are rabbits. One player (or a spectator!) will be in charge of choosing a game card at random and reading it
3. When it is their turn, each player does the action described by the card and read by the designated player or spectator.
4. Don't forget to move by hopping like a rabbit would!
5. The first player to cross the finish line wins.

Did you know?

Domestic rabbits are popular gifts, especially around Easter. Unfortunately, a lot of these rabbits are abandoned several months later when it becomes clear to owners that these animals require special care throughout their 8 to 12 year lifespan! Think it through carefully before welcoming a rabbit into your home, and make sure you adopt one from a shelter or rescue in order to offer a loving forever home to a rabbit that needs one!
